

KiFi15

Photo: Ivica Mezei, sxc.hu

Collaborology 2016

—
INTERNATIONALLY FEDERATED COURSE
EDUCATION DESIGN PROJECT

—
INTER UNIVERSITY CENTRE DUBROVNIK,
CROATIA, OCTOBER 1–9, 2016

—
Competition — in business, politic and academia — has created a certain human world whose limits we are beginning to see. Collaboration offers us a new way to evolve, to make work effective and meaningful, to re-create our businesses and institutions, and to reach new heights of thriving in synergy with all. Collaborology 2016 is a strategic educational project whose goal is to streamline and cross-intermingle (is this a word ;) a «blossoming» variety of collaboration-based developments.

—

By creating Collaborology we build upon the work and visions of
-> Buckminster Fuller, who already in the 1960s saw that competition was weighing us down, and began to create his IT-enabled World Game, through which the people and their leaders can see the world as one, and collaborate on making it work for all, and reach the end of scarcity

-> Doug Engelbart, who already in the 1960s developed information technology to enable us to think together and solve our increasingly complex problems

-> Aurelio Peccei, who already in the 1960s developed The Club of Rome to help the humanity find a new course

-> Erich Jantsch, who already in the 1960s foresaw that «the university should make structural changes within itself toward a new purpose of enhancing society's capability for continuous self-renewal.

—

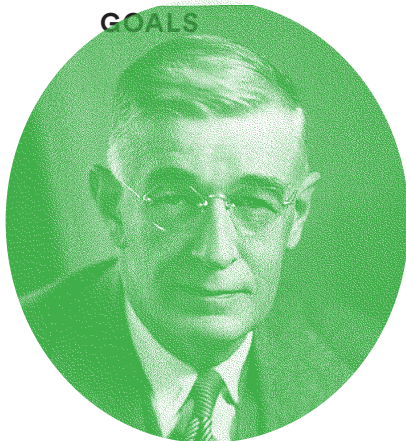

Aurelio Peccei

Original photo by laboratoriolapsus.it

and of our other great forefathers.

We follow the indictment of Vannevar Bush, and undertake to not only organize and make available a broad variety of contemporary state-of-the-art resources, both technological and humanistic, that will enable us to continue; we also organize the very organization of knowledge in a new way, and thereby undertake to make also Bush's vision come true.

GOALS

—

Vannevar Bush

For those of us who are so irresistibly drawn to this emerging world that we are with hearts and minds already living in it, Collaborology 2015 will be a way to

- come together and continue to develop our own collaboration for impact
- organize and share our key resources – those we want to offer as pieces in the collaborative strategy game-changing game through which we want to make systemic i.e. lasting and effective positive impact
 - offer those resources to the world, and in particular to the next proactive generation of collaborative players, who will make a difference that makes a difference.

AT the same time, Collaborology will be by its structure an entirely innovative course project, where we will be creating education where experts and students around the world collaborate on a single thing. Global Education Futures Forum is federating ideas; they are here being implemented.

TENTATIVE PROGRAM

Gradska Kavana

Original photo by ?

- DAY 1 SUNDAY, OCTOBER 19TH is the social day. We will meet in Gradska Kavana (City Coffee Hall), enjoy an introduction to Dubrovnik by Suad Ahmetovic, author of the acclaimed Curiosities of Dubrovnik (from the past two millennia); walk on Lokrum Island and its gardens, possibly with a swim in the sea; dinner accompanied by a closed concert in Rosary Chapel (now still tentative), followed by a reception in the garden of Villa Doda.
- DAY 2 MONDAY, OCTOBER 20TH is the domain mapping day, In a generative dialog, we'll map everyone's projects, ideas, dreams and aspirations. Workshop dinner will be served in Dubrovnik's best restaurant with a view of the city walls. lists, scientists and other knowledge workers to co-create the insights and impulses that are vital to global society.
- DAY 3 TUESDAY, OCTOBER 21ST is the strategy day. We will explore and begin to implement ways to collaborate for impact amongst ourselves.
- DAY 4 WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22ND is the tactics day. We will explore, and begin, concrete projects and ways of achieving impact.
- DEP. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23RD is the departure. Some of us will, however extend our stay until Saturday, to anchor and develop what is there still further.

VENUE

We have been fortunate to develop a venue in Dubrovnik that is close to ideal for our purpose:

THE INTER UNIVERSITY CENTRE as the historical meeting of scientists and humanists across the Iron Curtain, to co-create a better world, with a park behind and sea access

VILLA DODA entirely at our disposal, with its garden and terraces and piano, within 5 min. walk from the IUC and from Dubrovnik Old City

SERVANTESSES OF MERCY (Sluzbenice Milosrdja) Monastery

SESAME RESTAURANT for lunches with its authentic dishes and deserts

RESTAURANT NAUTIKA for a memorable conference dinner

AND NOT THE LEAST — DUBROVNIK, enchanting Renaissance town, with an international airport and innumerable cafes and walkways for inspired conversations.

As always, we will come together in an environment conducive to making human bonds and exchanging ideas — in an Inter University Centre classroom, in the Villa Doda garden, and in the parks and cafes of Dubrovnik. But not only — again as always, we will also be designing and creating together.

Sluzbenice Milosrdja

Original photo by ?